

Apollinaris

"THE QUEEN OF TABLE WATERS."

The results of the recent investigations in Paris, and the Report of the Académie de Médecine of France, have placed the Apollinaris Water at the head of all the waters examined for purity and freedom from disease germs.

THIS REFRESHING BEVERAGE is a NATURAL MINERAL WATER, highly esteemed for its agreeable flavour, its restorative action, and its adaptation to every constitution. It flows from the APOLLINARIS BRUNNEN, in the Valley of the Ahr, near Neuenahr in Rhenish Prussia, and may be classed with Seltzer water, as it possesses similar constituents, but combined in happier proportions, by the chemistry of Nature.

Apollinaris Water, being a PURE NATURAL PRODUCT, possesses many obvious advantages as a table beverage and ordinary drinking water over artificial Seltzer and other manufactured aerated waters. Springing as it does from a deep rocky source, it is of the HIGHEST PURITY; and, being bottled at the spring, its natural gas is retained, so that it is highly effervescent, and preserves its lively character and freshness very much longer than any artificial aerated water.

It has therefore gained favour whenever it has been tasted, and its excellent qualities are highly approved by eminent medical men in all countries.

To secure genuineness, see that each label bears, besides the pictorial label as below, a label with the word "Apollinaris" printed across a red triangle as above, and that the cork is branded with the words "Apollinaris Brunnen" around an anchor, and the name of THE APOLLINARIS COMPANY, LIMITED.

Apollinaris

The agreeable flavour of Apollinaris Water recommends it as a wholesome daily beverage, unmixed with wine. Apollinaris is not only a delightful effervescing water, of valuable dietetic qualities, pure and refreshing, but it also mixes well with wines and spirits. Apollinaris with hot milk is much recommended by Physicians as a morning beverage, at or before breakfast, for persons of delicate digestion. Apollinaris and fruit syrups are most refreshing and agreeable drinks.

Dr. HERMANN WEBER, F.R.C.P., London, writes:—"APOLLINARIS WATER has become the general substitute in all parts of the world, of common, often impure, drinking water, and thus a source of incalculable benefit, and a pioneer of an useful sanitary and dietetic reform."

BOTTLED AND SOLD AT THE APOLLINARIS SPRING:

1888	.	.	12,720,000	Bottles.
1894	.	.	17,623,000	"
1895	.	.	19,526,000	"

1897	.	.	22,595,000	"
1898	.	.	23,020,000	"

The above Table proves better than anything else the continuous and increasing appreciation which the Natural Effervescing APOLLINARIS Water enjoys, thanks to its absolute purity and to its other exceptional qualities.

DO HIGH SPEED ATLANTIC LINERS PAY?

It is only because of the strength and great national value of our shipping industry that vigorous effort is made from time to time to wreck from us our sea supremacy; and this is but another way of saying that to secure our continuance as the ocean carriers of the world, we must maintain that progressive enterprise which has given us first place among maritime nations. It is, therefore, gratifying to learn that the Cunard Company have at last awakened to the fact that something ought to be done to recover from the Germans the blue ribbon for Atlantic high speed. The Cunard Company, with characteristic caution, are, however, considering the question in all its bearings, and their first step is merely to ask the three leading shipbuilding firms—Vickers, Fairfield, and Brown —to submit three alternative designs for a vessel 700 ft. long to steam 24 knots, 23 knots, and 18 knots on the Atlantic, with an estimate of the first cost, and some information regarding personnel and coal consumption. This will raise the whole question as to whether the game is worth the candle. The company's steamers Campania and Lucania, of 12,500 tons gross register, maintain 22 knots on the Atlantic, with the engines developing 28,000 indicated horse-power. To increase this speed to 23 knots will necessitate not only a larger and costlier ship, but an addition of 8000 horse-power to the machinery; while to get 24 knots it is computed that the power will have to be 48,000 indicated horse-power. Thus an addition to speed of two nautical miles per hour adds to the fuel consumption 200 tons of coal per day, assuming a very high efficiency to be got from the machinery, bringing the total per day to 750 tons, or 1.3 ton per mile steamed. An 18-knot boat, on the other hand, would consume considerably less than half this total amount of coal, and her expenses for oil and other stores, and her machinery would be correspondingly lessened. Moreover the 18-knot boat may profitably carry a large quantity of cargo, and her machinery will require but one-half the space and weight of that of the 24-knot liner. It does not pay to take cargo at the high speed.
Against this, however, there must be placed the higher rates which may be charged for passengers. The minimum first class rate on the fast German ships is about £20; in 25 and 31-knot ships, it is £12; while there is, again, a great difference in the maximum, many £250 fares being taken, and others range up to £400. A large percentage of American tourists insist on travelling in the fast ships, and the German lines are satisfied that the high-speed liner pays.
Thus to the resources of a nation in war times, and for this reason larger Admiralty subsidy rates are justifiable.
National prestige and the company enterprise which they indicate are also worthy of some consideration.—Engineering.

Silver Wedding.

Last night, Mr and Mrs G. J. B.
Sayer celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding by entertaining a large party of friends in the Hon. C. P. Clatter's bungalow at Kowloon. The night was hardly an ideal one for dancing, but nevertheless, dancing was kept up with unabated vigour till about midnight, when the party set down to a richer supper. Supper over, Mr T. H. Reid proposed the health of the host and hostess, and on behalf of those present gave expression to the hope that Mr and Mrs Sayer would have many more years of wedded bliss. Mr Sayer made a brief but appropriate response to the toast, which was drunk enthusiastically with musical honours. The toast of 'The Ladies' was proposed by Mr J. W. L.
Oliver, and Mr J. Hooper was entrusted by the ladies with the onerous duty of replying on their behalf. A fine wedding cake, suitable for the occasion, was cut up by Mr Owen Orin, the oldest friend of the family present. Mr and Mrs Sayer were made the recipients of a large number of valuable and very handsome silver presents.

PEACE PROSPECTS

STATEMENT BY MR BALFOUR.

DELAY IN NEGOTIATIONS.

A Reference to Commandoes.
(From Our Own Correspondent.)

London, April 18, 9.5 p.m.

The Right Hon. Arthur J.
Balfour, First Lord of the Treasury, in a statement to the House of Commons to-day, intimated that the Boer delegates, after conferences with Lord Milner, High Commissioner for South Africa, and Lord Kitchener, Commander-in-Chief of the British forces, had left Pretoria to consult with the commandoes still in the field.

Lord Kitchener has refused to grant an armistice, but will give the Boers facilities for the election and meeting of representatives from the various commandoes.

It is expected that this will cause a delay of three weeks in the peace negotiations.

[The Boer delegates are—Messrs Schalk-Burger and Meyer and Commandant-General Louis Botha, representing the late Transvaal Government, and ex-President Steyn and Com-mandants De Wet and Delarey, representing the late Orange Free State. In our special Telegram, dated London, April 14, it was stated that these delegates had arrived at Pretoria from Klerksdorp, where they had been in conference prior to approaching Lord Kitchener with their proposals. The outlook is certainly more hopeful, and it is probable peace may be declared within three weeks.—Ed., until 1895, when you were elected to suc-

Justice, as Rector of the College. You have not rested content with occupying a proposed for the furtherance of the objects of the College and for its development.

While rejoicing that you have been called to a position of greater responsibility and honour by His Majesty the King, we can-departure from the Colony; and we desire to assure you that you carry with you our heartiest good wishes for your future welfare and for your early promotion to yet more important spheres of public usefulness.

THE DEPARTURE OF MR J. H.
STEWART LOCKHART.

Chinese College of Medicine.

In view of the pending departure of Hon.
J. H. Stewart Lockhart, C.M.C., Colonial Secretary, a series of public have takings and presentations is announced. The first of these took place yesterday afternoon, at four o'clock, in the Legislative Council Chamber, in connection with the Chinese College of Medicine, of which valuable institution Mr Lockhart was Rector.

His Excellency the Officer Administering the Government, Major-General W. J.
Gaseigne, presided, and the other present, in addition to Mr Stewart Lockhart, Hon.
Dr Ho Kai, Dr J. C. Thomson, Dr R.
Maclean Gibson, Mr E. Sharp, Mr D.
Wood, Mr F. Brown, Dr Noble, Dr Pearce, Dr R. Gibson, Dr Kreig, Dr Batson Wright, Dr Barringer, Mr C. Ford, Mr W. J. Tutcher, Hon. H. W. Trefusis, A.D.C., Rev. T. W. Pearce, and many students of the College.

His Excellency explained the object of the meeting, and called upon Dr Clark, Dean of the College, to proceed with the business of the meeting.

Dr Clark said:—Your Excellency and gentlemen, the honour has fallen upon me of presenting, in the name of the College, the Senate, and the past and present students of the Hongkong College of Medicine for Chinese, a small token of our appreciation to our Rector, Mr Stewart Lockhart, on the eve of his departure from these scenes wherein he has laboured for more than twenty years.

The severance of old ties and friendships is at least but a saddest process, and I feel sure that, mingled with that justifiable pride at having been selected by His Majesty the King to govern the newest of our many British possessions in the Far East, Mr Lockhart cannot but feel a sense of some great loss, some gap which can never again be bridged, that must ever temper the natural elation of one who has been called to wider spheres of action, and who leaves behind him the friendships of his youth and early manhood. Such a sense of loss, however, is even more keenly felt by those who are thus left behind, for upon these devolves the duty of carrying on the old tradition, and, no easy task, of finding new helpers in the work that must be done. I need hardly remind you that Mr Lockhart has been associated with our College from its first inception, and shares the no small honour of having worked for its advancement, in the early days of its history, with Manson, one of the great leaders of our glorious profession, and with these bygone worthies, Stewart, Young, Chalmers and Francis, who also are now but names in the Temple of Fame. For seven years, Mr Lockhart has presided over the deliberations of our Court, and has faithfully discharged the duties of the office of Rector of the College by every means in his power. His interest in the natives of China is profound, and it is not to be wondered at therefore that he saw clearly the immense benefits that must accrue to such of them as were fit to receive the education of a school for the propagation of Western methods of treatment of the sick. We are glad to learn that "learning originated in the East and thence spread its benign influence to the West," and it is but just therefore that when the West has improved upon the East, where the little chain of knowledge has increased a hundredfold, that the Mother of Wisdom should reap a share of the harvest. Our aim, as a College has been to spread the little knowledge that we have been privileged to acquire from our island home among our native fellow-citizens in this far-off Colony, and I think we may fairly claim that our roll of students and of diplomas bears ample evidence that our labours have not been in vain. Mr Lockhart has done yeoman service in this cause, and we have assembled to-day to bear testimony to that service and to wish him "God speed" in the work that lies before him in the future. Our address therefore is no empty platitude, but the genuine heartfelt wish of a little band of workers whose loss is another's gain. With your permission, sir, I will now read the address, and will ask you to hand it to Mr Lockhart in the name of those who have assembled here to-day to do him honour.

Dr Clark then handed the address, which was bound in a handsome cover, faced with silver, to His Excellency, and he in turn presented it to Mr Stewart Lockhart, who bowed his acknowledgments.

The address, which was extensively signed, read as follows:—
"To the Honourable
JAMES HALDANE STEWART LOCKHART, Companion of the most Distinguished Order of St. Michael and St. George, Colonial Secretary of the Colony of Hongkong, Rector of the Hongkong College of Medicine for Chinese.

Hongkong, 18th April, 1902.
Sir,—Before you finally sever your long and distinguished connection with Hongkong and particularly with the College of Medicine for Chinese, we, the Members of the Court, Senate and General Council, and past and present students resident in the College, desire to convey to you our grateful acknowledgments and warm appreciation of the many and valuable services which you have rendered to the College since its inception. You are associated with Manson, Stewart, Young, Chalmers, Francis, Cantlie and others in the founding of this Institution in 1887, when you accepted the office of Treasurer. This office you held until 1895, when you were elected to succeed His Honour Sir Fielding Clarke, Chief Justice, as Rector of the College. You
purely honorary position, but as President of the Court and executive Head of the College you have actively interested yourself in all the various schemes that have been proposed for the furtherance of the objects
of the College and for its development.
not refrain from an expression of our regret at the loss sustained by the College in your departure from the Colony; and we desire
important spheres of public usefulness.

Dr Kwan King Leung, one of the honorary students of the College, said he desired to say a few words on behalf of the students, expressing their respect and admiration for their Rector, the Honourable J. H. Stewart Lockhart (applause), and conveying to him publicly their sincere and hearty thanks for his distinguished labours for the good of the College and its students (applause). Since his nomination until now, Mr Lee has had taken an active interest in the College, and anything which tended to its welfare had not been without his cordial support. It would be very difficult to fill his place. They all wished Mr Lockhart every happiness in his new sphere of usefulness, and they doubted not that before many years had passed, they would hear of his further promotion in the public service of his King and country (applause).

Mr Ho Kai, one of the present students, said that with the remarks that had just fallen from Dr Kwan, who had spoken so eloquently for the past students of the College, he entirely agreed. On behalf of himself, however, and on behalf of his fellow students who were now prosecuting their professional studies at the College, he was desirous of making some additional observations. No one could appreciate as they did the honour and the valuable services rendered to the College by Mr Lockhart. As his Rector, he had neglected no means or opportunity of increasing its efficiency. He always had the welfare of the students at heart in everything affecting their professional training. They sincerely knew how to express adequately to Mr Lockhart their obligation and thanks, but they could assure him that their gratitude was both deep and sincere. (Applause). They should long cherish his memory in their hearts, and their earnest wish was that wherever Mr Lockhart went, he and his might enjoy perfect happiness, good health and prosperity (applause).

Mr Stewart Lockhart was received with loud applause on rising to reply. He said: —Your Excellency, the Dean, and gentlemen.—In the first place, sir, I wish to temper for you my thanks for the very kind remarks you have made with reference to me, and also to thank you for coming here today, thereby showing that you are interested in this College of Medicine for Chinese. With regard to the kind remarks which have been made by the Dean and with regard to the remarks made by Dr Kwan and Mr Ho, I can only say that you have been heaping coals of fire on my head to-day, because, so far as this College of Medicine is concerned, it is I who am the person who has anything to do with its prosperity. It is the staff—the lecturers and doctors—and the students, and, therefore, when I say you have heaped coals of fire on my head, I mean that, instead of their coming here to-day to express their thanks to me, I should be in the position of thanking them for the manner in which they have worked in the interests of the College. You must remember, sir, that in connection with this College the lecturers and professors have given their time and labour to the interests of the College without the least hope of reward, actuated solely and simply by a desire to further the interests of the profession of which they are such distinguished ornaments (applause). I think that to them, sir, I am chiefly due for carrying on the College of Medicine over the period of fifteen years of its existence. Perhaps, sir, I may be allowed to refer incidentally, briefly, to the chair and to the history of the College. In 1887, it was first inaugurated by an address of a very elegant nature delivered by Dr Manson, and, very curiously enough on that occasion your predecessor, sir, Major-General Cameron, occupied the chair and was, at that time, Officer Administering the Colony. That shows, sir, that like you to-day your predecessor of many years ago, was in entire sympathy with this Institution. It has had its struggles, as was anticipated. For a long time, it was hoped it would find a local habitation, and one gentleman very kindly came forward and undertook to provide a building if a sufficient endowment could be obtained. Unfortunately, no endowment could be found, and that very generous offer was withdrawn. I am glad to be able to say, sir, that the Government, although it has not recognized the work of the College fully as yet, has however, at least put in this year's estimate a sum which will give slight help to those who are engaged in the work of the Institution. It is not anything more than a mere recognition of the fact that it is an evidence that the Government is assuming an attitude of appreciation of the work. Besides granting this sum, sir, the Government has also undertaken to establish a dispensary in the Western district of the Colony in which will be placed one of the diplomas of the College of Medicine for Chinese. I think, therefore, that you will agree, sir, that in a step of a very rare nature, because anyone who knows the Chinese well must admit that the best way to induce the Chinese to take advantage of Western medicine was to go to their own country. I have every hope, sir, that this dispensary, having the help of Mr Brown, the Government Analyst, who takes great interest in the College, will do good work, and will be followed up by the establishment of many others in other parts of the Colony. I hope the College will have a very brilliant future, and, according to the students who are in training and are employed, it is an excellent thing that the Government has undertaken to

terests. Finally, he had been successful in establishing order and bringing to the large labouring population peace and good government (applause). In conclusion, Mr. Ho Kai expressed the wishes of the Chinese community for Mr. Lockhart's welfare, and added that the presentation of the Address was a grateful and humble acknowledgment of the many benefits he had conferred on the community. He then expressed the warm sentiments of regard entertained by the Chinese community for Mr. Lockhart, whose courtesy and gentle kindness would cause him to be felt very warmly indeed by many of them. The Address, a bulky volume bound in morocco and silver and beautifully engraved and lithographed, was then handed by the Chairman to Mr. Lockhart.

Mr. Yip of Shun then addressed Mr. Lockhart in Chinese and presented another magnificent illuminated address on behalf of the Po Leung Kuk.

Mr. Stewart Lockhart, who was warmly applauded, said he could not find words adequate enough to express his feelings. He then read the Address which had been just handed to him, but he thought that his real object in meeting to-day was not so much to pay a compliment to him, personally as to show the high appreciation of the community which they had the privilege to live (applause). He thought they were quite ready to appreciate the privileges of British rule which gave freedom to every nationality, and he was glad that he had the good fortune to be the officer of the Government who for many years was placed in intimate relation with the Chinese community, and any successes that may have attended his efforts were entirely due to that hearty co-operation and ready assistance which he had received at all times from the members of the Chinese community. With such co-operation, it would be impossible for any Chinese to change in an active manner, the important affairs of a community so large and which had customs and habits peculiar to itself. He was very glad that they had given him this opportunity of thinking them for the kind appreciation and the help he had received from them in the past, which had made his task an easy one, and had enabled the Government to carry on in a much more harmonious and easy manner than possible without such support.

Mr. Ho Kai then referred to the special connection with the Po Leung Kuk, the Tung Wah Hospital and the District Watchmen's Committee. He (Mr. Lockhart) could only say that anything he had done to help these institutions had been done with great pleasure and he would always be glad to think that they had been able to say that the little he had done had been of assistance to those who had to carry on this excellent work. He would like to leave Hong Kong and leave behind him a community which was so many years old and among whom he had many good friends, but the distance between here and Weihaiwei was not very far and he trusted that, when he was there, he would have the pleasure of meeting many of his Chinese friends, and he had a great belief in the enterprise of the Cantonese race, and without wishing to say anything with regard to the other races in China, all he could say was that he perhaps would have the pleasure of seeing Cantonese enterprises in Weihaiwei. He could assure them that if they would only come there, he would be only too glad to give them a very hearty welcome (applause). He thanked them sincerely for the very kind reference that had been made to his wife. There was a general and very false impression that the Chinese did not take high respect for their wives which existed among the people of Western lands (laughter). This knowledge of the Chinese told him that the wife exercised a very wise influence over the Chinese. He had been told that the Chinese did not take high respect for their wives which existed among the people of Western lands (laughter). hour glass and a night. Through that glass the sands of our lives were running rapidly, but in Mr. Lockhart's case all events, the hour glass was to be reversed and a fresh lease of life, and, doubtless, one of increased usefulness and happiness was accorded to him in other scenes of action. He presumed the speech was suggestive of reaping, and they do not doubt that, in Mr. Lockhart's case, the harvest time would be, it should be, one of happiness and satisfaction; because the good and healthy seed, which he had sown long ago and fostered by hard work and energy, had now ripened into the golden grain of public appreciation, as was shown by the numerous farewell addresses which had been presented to him. As Mr. Lockhart not only received one yesterday, but he believed, had also received another that morning already, he would not tie him by prolonging his preliminary remarks, but would now read the address which they desired to present to him. (applause).

The Address, which is to be put on a mounted scroll and forwarded when ready, was then read, and Mr. Lockhart bowed his acknowledgments.

In reply, Mr. Stewart Lockhart said it was exceedingly difficult for him to respond in any way adequately to the very kind words that Mr. Goodman had used with regard to him, and to the very kind wishes which were expressed in the Address. No one could be more sensible of his own shortcomings than he was himself, and it made him sad, in looking back over the number of years he had resided in this Colony, to think what a number of opportunities he had lost and the many things he had neglected that he might have done, but he was cheering, although he felt his shortcomings so keenly, to find his friends and colleagues so ready to give him such a warm and hearty welcome, and to wish him all the good wishes that had been expressed towards him. He needed hardly say that his regret at leaving Hong Kong was very keen indeed, but the bitterness of parting was to a very great extent mitigated by the recollection that, although he was leaving Hong Kong, he was leaving behind him in Hong Kong really true friends, who, during many years, had shown him innumerable kindnesses, which he would never forget, and today was another illustration of their kindness by meeting him and presenting with that Address and their good wishes. Members of Council and his fellow civil servants had all one object in view, and that object was the prosperity of the Colony. Differences of opinion might arise at various times as to how that prosperity was to be best advanced, but their object as he said, was always the same, and so long as the members of Council and the members of the civil service co-operated together there could be no doubt that the prosperity of this Colony, already so great, would become greater still. To the members of the civil service he could only say that he was proud to have been a member of it, and he regretted that he was leaving behind him his colleagues in the civil service who always co-operated with him and he was glad of this opportunity of thanking them all for their kindness to him during the whole of his period of service in Hong Kong. Mr. Goodman had referred to the proverb that there was no good fish in the sea and the difficulty of being able to catch the really good fish, but he thought that in Mr. May, who was to be his successor, a very excellent fish had been landed. Mr. May was a very great friend of his own. He had known him during all his service in Hong Kong and he (Mr. May) was also known to the community of Hong Kong and it therefore did not require any words from him to commend Mr. May to this Colony. He felt perfectly certain that Mr. May would make an excellent Colonial Secretary and would not only promote every good work having for its object the promotion of the welfare of Hong Kong, but he would be more or less, at present an unknown country and he only trusted that, under the British flag, it might prosper. He would do his best to make it prosper, and when the day arrived, if it was to arrive, that it was to have a civil service of its own, he trusted it would be as fortunate in that respect as Hong Kong was to-day. He felt it was impossible for him to thank them sufficiently for the kind words that they had said and all they had done in the past. All that he could say was that he thanked them from the bottom of his heart. (Prolonged applause).

On the call of Hon. R. Murray Ramsay, three cheering cheers were given for Mr. Stewart Lockhart, and the business concluded.

The Address will be published in Monday's issue.

Owing to the interference by the crowd, the international football match (Association) between England and Scotland at Glasgow does not count.

Features of Trade.

The principal features to be remarked in the reported trade of the Port for the year 1901 are—decreases in the coal imports of 12.3 per cent, cotton 27.8, rice 8, timber 18.7, hemp 42.3, increases in general imports of 9.6 per cent and small increases in kerosene and liquid fuel. Net decreases in import cargo is 123,335 tons or 3.4 per cent. In exports, there appears to be an increase of 150,823 tons or 7.7 per cent, and in transit cargo, a decrease of 9,163 tons or 10.4 per cent. The total import trade of the Port for 1901 amounts to 24,687 vessels of 9,014,935 tons, carrying 6,347,285 tons of cargo, of which 4,212,700 tons were discharged at Hong Kong. This does not include local trade junks. The export trade for 1901 was represented by 24,598 vessels of 8,975,482 tons, carrying 3,033,907 tons, and shipping 5,92,947 tons of bunker coal. During the year, 10,807 vessels of European construction of 14,569,069 tons (net Register) reported having arrived 8,242,272 tons of cargo.

CONCERT AT KOWLOON.

The audience on Thursday night at the concert given by the band of the Royal Welch Fusiliers was not so large as it ought to have been, considering the high quality of the programme and the painstaking efforts of the gifted and genial Bandmaster. The programme, throughout, gave unmistakable evidence of very careful preparation on the part of the Band, and great disappointment was felt that more of the general public did not attend to show their appreciation of these efforts and to help forward the good work done at the Institute amongst the sailors who frequent this port in such large numbers. Those who were present, however, thoroughly enjoyed the Concert, and had the melancholy satisfaction of commiserating those who were absent. Bandmaster Muir was fortunate in securing the services of Mrs. Muir and Miss Ramsay, who added very considerably to the success of the Concert. The former sang in her inimitable style "Within a mile of 'Ealing' town," "Coming from the 'Ealing' town," and "Down the 'Ealing' town." The latter sang "The 'Ealing' town," "The 'Ealing' town," and "The 'Ealing' town." The programme was a little variety of a pleasant character, and the same may be said of the selection by the Bandmaster, which was a very good one. Both these numbers were well done. Mr. Kent was thoroughly at home in his rendering of the Irish songs, "O'Shea's Return," "Galligan, Call again," and "Fall in." Mr. Dean entered into the spirit of his songs "Forty Thieves" and "My Dear Dada." The programme concluded at a late hour with an amusing musical sketch, in character, descriptive of the ambitions and trials of a village musical society. The Band accompanied the vocal items, and in addition, played two selections entitled "London Night by Night" and "A Night in Town," both of which gave much pleasure. The Chaplain desired to thank Colonel the Hon. H. B. Dyer, C.B., and officers, for kindly giving the Band the use of the premises, and also Bandmaster Muir and the members of the Band for their hard work in preparing such an excellent programme. The proceeds of the Concert were in aid of fund for renovating and improving the Institute premises.—Continued.

Those who were present, however, thoroughly enjoyed the Concert, and had the melancholy satisfaction of commiserating those who were absent. Bandmaster Muir was fortunate in securing the services of Mrs. Muir and Miss Ramsay, who added very considerably to the success of the Concert. The former sang in her inimitable style "Within a mile of 'Ealing' town," "Coming from the 'Ealing' town," and "Down the 'Ealing' town." The latter sang "The 'Ealing' town," "The 'Ealing' town," and "The 'Ealing' town." The programme was a little variety of a pleasant character, and the same may be said of the selection by the Bandmaster, which was a very good one. Both these numbers were well done. Mr. Kent was thoroughly at home in his rendering of the Irish songs, "O'Shea's Return," "Galligan, Call again," and "Fall in." Mr. Dean entered into the spirit of his songs "Forty Thieves" and "My Dear Dada." The programme concluded at a late hour with an amusing musical sketch, in character, descriptive of the ambitions and trials of a village musical society. The Band accompanied the vocal items, and in addition, played two selections entitled "London Night by Night" and "A Night in Town," both of which gave much pleasure. The Chaplain desired to thank Colonel the Hon. H. B. Dyer, C.B., and officers, for kindly giving the Band the use of the premises, and also Bandmaster Muir and the members of the Band for their hard work in preparing such an excellent programme. The proceeds of the Concert were in aid of fund for renovating and improving the Institute premises.—Continued.

PARSEE CHARITY FUNDS.

To the Editor of the 'CHINA MAIL.'

Hongkong, April 19.

Sir,—Another amateur advocate again, and this time one who apparently seems to boast of having 'solved' something. 'Solution,' in last night's China Mail, is inconsistent, unpractical, and unimproved. Inconsistent in that he preaches one thing and practices another, namely, that this matter should not have been imported in the papers, and yet he does exactly the same thing by following suit; unpractical in that he moralises on playing with fire, but he cannot see that he is not only himself playing with fire and getting burnt, but gets another one burnt also, namely, Secretary Mr. Arjani, as will be shown further on; unimproved in that he does not know that Secretary Mr. Arjani has not the ordinary courtesy to receive private communications addressed to him in his capacity of Secretary, and that too on an important matter affecting the community about which I was to make no mention in public and thus expose the want of courtesy on the part of the secretary, who must now thank these amateur advocates and pray unto heaven to save him from his friends! Besides, what earthly use is 'Solution' letter? What purpose does it serve? He does not seem to know his own mind when he says that the proper place is the meeting room where most of the members meet usually (mark the words 'usually'), and that the questions of principle I have raised have arisen after that meeting and from that meeting to which he refers. Neither his predecessor in the field of controversy 'H.S.K.' nor he himself have made any attempt to correct, contradict, or confirm me honestly in the important questions I have raised, 'H.S.K.' 'Solution' & Co. would do well to hold their peace if they have no arguments to produce.

I see there is another complaint 'Proof,' which letter addressed to the Daily Press has been inserted because that paper has been, in its absolute discretion, pleased to close the matter. But in a true journalistic spirit, I like a fair fight, and if 'Proof' has been left uncorrected should not allow himself and the cause he may have exposed to suffer by an adverse decision, but I would show him a more direct way to solution; namely, he should get his letter printed and circulated among the community and get a hearing and redress. Will he do so?—Yours,

PROBLEM.

MEDICAL TESTIMONIALS:—

Dr. B. O'BRIEN, M.D., Civil Surgeon, F.R.C.S., says:—Mr. N. Lazarus, optician, examined my vision to-day, and I have much pleasure in testifying to the accuracy with which he determines the proper glasses for me to wear. His method of examination is a very ingenious and accurate one, and by it he should be able to ascertain the proper glasses for the correction of all the errors of refraction met with in the eye.

Surgeon-Major G. C. HART, in charge of the Eye Hospital, Allahabad, says:—I have tested your Patent Refraction Test, and find it remarkably good and accurate, and I think it should prove very useful to all who are called upon to treat errors of refraction, especially Astigmatism, which is so common and yet so frequently overlooked.

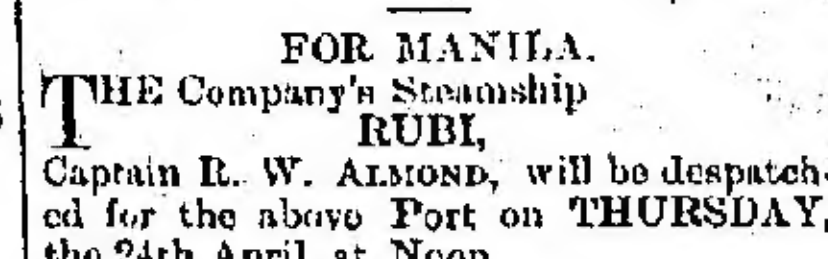

Dr. BRADY, F.R.C.S., M.D., Residency Surgeon, Hyderabad, says:—Mr. Lazarus has shown me his method of testing the eyes of persons whose vision is defective, and I consider that any one requiring Spectacles may depend on seeing carefully fitted by him.

The Tide Table given below has been compiled by the Nautical Almanac Office in London from the result of the analysis of observations taken by means of automatic tide-recording machines in the Victoria Harbour at Tsim Sha Tsui during the years 1887-89.

The zero of the table is Low Water ordinary Spring Tides, which has been found to be 2 feet below mean sea level.

To obtain the depth of water on the range at the Victoria Naval Yard add 5 7 in. and on the range at Lamont Dock Aberdeen, add 12 ft. 8 in. to the height given in the table.
